In May, the world awakens from its slumber, whispering tales of second chances and fresh starts.

Tickle your funny Bone!

“- A young man who volunteers to sing to patients in nursing homes and hospitals went to one local hospital in the Bronx and took his musical instruments along. He told some jokes and sang some songs at the patients' bedsides. When he was finished for the afternoon he said, in all sincerity, “I hope you get better.” One elderly gentleman replied, “I hope you get better, too.”

On day a famous man went to a nursing home to see all of his friends again and see how there were doing. When he got there EVERYBODY greeted him [because, of course, everybody knows him]. One man he noticed didn't come up to him or say anything to him, so later he walked up to the man and asked him “Do you know who I am?” and the old man replied “No, but you can go to the front desk and they'll tell you.”

Victoria Day

Victoria Day is a federal Canadian public holiday observed on the last Monday preceding May 25 to honour Queen Victoria, who is known as the "Mother of Confederation". The holiday has existed in Canada since at least 1845, originally on Victoria's natural birthday, May 24.

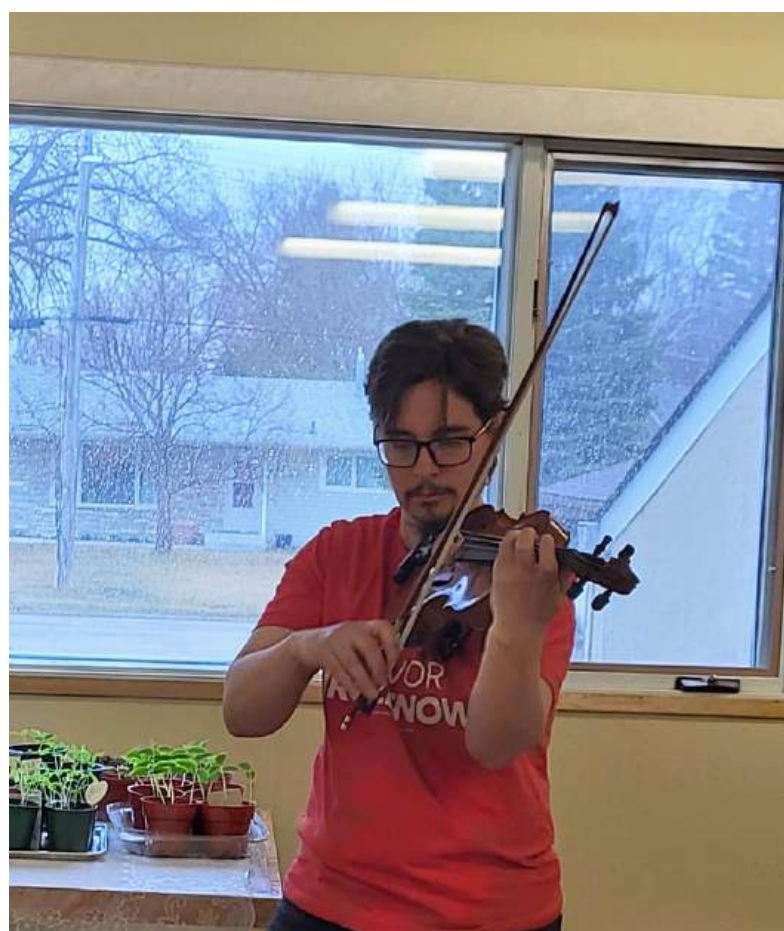

Victoria Day is a federal statutory holiday, as well as a holiday in six of Canada's ten provinces and all three of its territories.

The holiday has always been a distinctly Canadian observance and continues to be celebrated across the country.

It is informally considered the start of the summer season in Canada.

From the Chaplain

Mother's Day is a special day for honoring a very special someone.
How do we adequately honor the one who has done so much for us?
From, How many meals has she prepared? to How often has she prayed for us?
I'm sure we could never completely tally all the benefits we received from her!

Many are privileged to still have their mothers around and can easily make that call, send that card, or give that special hug.

Mothers treasure gifts such as these as they can see the motive of the heart from which they come.

For many, though, thoughts of Mother come from the memories of the heart.
Memories of conversations from the past; memories evoked from old photographs;
memories springing from a treasured object Mother once held dear.

What stories could that faded quilt or that well-used set of dishes tell?
It is perhaps in the sharing of those stories, along with the thoughts they arouse, where we can best honor our mothers today.

As we recently recalled the price Jesus paid for our redemption, we also remember how Jesus, in the last hours on the cross,
took special consideration for his mother, and honored her by committing her care into the hands of John,
the disciple whom he loved (John 19).

May you be blessed in whatever way you honor your mother this Mother's Day, and if you are one of those mothers, Happy Mother's Day!

Peter Berg, Chaplain
